Department Description

The Seattle Public Library, founded in 1891, includes the Central Library, 24 neighborhood libraries, mobile services, and the Washington Talking Book and Braille Library.

The Library is governed by a five-member citizens' board of trustees, which is appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by the City Council. Board members serve five-year terms and meet monthly.

As the center of Seattle's information network, the Library provides a vast array of resources and services to the public, including:

- books, magazines, newspapers;
- online catalog and web site (www.spl.org);
- internet access and classes;
- CDs, DVDs, books on tape;
- sheet music;
- electronic databases;
- an extensive multilingual collection;
- English as a Second Language (ESL) and literacy services;
- more than 4,000 annual literary programs for children, teens, and adults;
- 10 community meeting rooms;
- Quick Information Center telephone reference service (386-INFO); and
- services for the deaf and blind.

The Library is currently implementing projects from the $268.4 million "Libraries for All" building program, funded in part by $196.4 million in bonds approved by the voters in 1998 and $35 million in private funding. The program provides a new Central Library, improvements to the 22 branch libraries in the system as of 1998, and the construction of five new branches in neighborhoods without libraries. For more information about this program, see the 2004-2009 Adopted Capital Improvement Program.

Policy and Program Changes

The Library collections budget is reduced by approximately $379,000 relative to the amount in the 2004 Endorsed Budget, a 12% decrease. Fewer books and non-print materials are purchased and the number of periodical subscriptions is decreased.

All Library operations close for one week in the first half of 2004. The closure is timed to coincide with the disruption to Library services required to move systems and materials from the Temporary Central Library to the new Central Library. The 2003 Adopted Budget included a two-week closure in the fourth quarter of 2003, but delays in the construction of the new Library changed the move period to the first half of 2004. To minimize the impact of the closure on patrons, the Library closed for one week in August 2003, and will require only a one-week system-wide closure during the move to the new Central Library in 2004. All staff are on unpaid leave during the closure periods except Information Technology staff, who will take staggered leaves at other times of the year.

Delayed openings of Libraries for All facilities, including the new Central Library and several branch projects, result in a savings of operations and maintenance costs of approximately $655,000. These savings are shown in Finance General, and are partially offset by the cost of extending the lease for the Temporary Central Library through early 2004.

The Library's pay-for-print system continues in 2004. Implemented in late 2003, the system charges patrons for printing materials from Library computers. Pay-for-print revenues recover costs of approximately $195,000, making print and copy services self-sufficient and allowing the Library to use funds that had subsidized print services for other critical services.

Approximately $148,000 in revenue from the parking garage in the new Central Library displaces an equal amount of General Fund funding. This represents a one-time savings for the General Fund because the revenue will be used to pay debt service for the garage when payments begin in 2005.

Approximately $50,000 in revenue from increases in fines and fees displaces an equal amount of General Fund funding.

Program Summary

Increase expenditures for the Library's new pay-for-print program, which was instituted in late 2003. The program charges patrons for the use of Library computer printers. Pay-for-print revenues recover costs of approximately $195,000, making print and copy services self-sufficient and allowing the Library to use funds that had subsidized print services for other staffing costs.

Increase expenditures by approximately $95,000 for operations and maintenance costs associated with the parking garage located in the new Central Library and approximately $35,000 for operations and maintenance costs associated with the parking garage located in the new Capitol Hill Library. These costs are offset by parking revenue from the garages.

Extend the lease for the Temporary Central Library facility. The original lease expires in December, 2003. The Central Library will remain in the temporary facility through the first quarter of 2004 because of delays in the construction of the new Central Library. The increased cost is approximately $174,000, and is offset by savings in maintenance and operating costs for the new facility that are budgeted in Finance General.

Close Finance program operations for one week in the first half of 2004 to allow for moving systems and materials from the Temporary Central Library to the new Central Library. The closure, which will result in a one-time expenditure reduction of approximately $8,000, was originally planned for late 2003 but was postponed due to Central Library construction delays.

Capital Improvement Program Highlights

Following approval of a $196.4 million bond issue in November 1998, the Library began an eight-year capital program – “Libraries for All” (LFA). The program calls for the replacement of the Central Library; construction of three new branch libraries; and the renovation, replacement, or expansion of each of the 22 branch libraries in the system as of 1998. In addition, an Opportunity Fund was established to support projects in areas underserved by the Library system. Planned Opportunity Fund projects include two new branch libraries in addition to the three new libraries included in the original LFA project list.

To date, five “Libraries for All” projects have been completed: the NewHolly and Wallingford branches relocated to new, permanent locations in November 1999 and January 2000, respectively; the new Delridge branch opened in June 2002; the Capitol Hill branch opened in May 2003; and the newly-expanded Rainier Beach branch opened in January 2004. The new Central Library will open in the second quarter of 2004. Also in 2004, a new library will be completed in the International District; new libraries will open to replace existing libraries in the Beacon Hill, Greenwood, and High Point neighborhoods; library expansion or renovation projects will be completed at the Columbia, Green Lake, Fremont, Lake City, North East, and West Seattle branches. Also, construction will be under way on the new Northgate Library; on new facilities to replace the Ballard and Montlake Libraries; and on the expansion of the Douglass-Truth Library.

Increased operations and maintenance costs associated with new or expanded facilities are described in the Department of Finance April 2002 updated LFA fiscal note. The original project budget was $239.5 million, but since the passage of the bond issue in 1998 additional private donations and bond interest earnings have increased the planning budget for the project to $268.4 million. In addition to voter-approved bonds ($196.4 million), major funding sources include private funding ($35 million), bond interest ($19.7 million), Limited Tax Obligation Bonds ($12.9 million), and the Cumulative Reserve Subfund ($4.5 million).
